A NATION MOURNS

ALL ENGLAND IS WRAPPED IN SORROW OVER DEATH OF ITS RULER.

NEW KING IS NOW PROCLAIMED

George V Took the Oath of Office and Received the Homage of His Subjects Saturday Afternoon—Edward's Remains to Lie
in State.

Facts About George V.
George Frederick Ernest Albert
the new king, is the second son of King Edward, and was born June 3, 1865, at the Marlborough house.
In 1892, when his brother, the Duke of Clarence, died, he took his seat in the house of lords as the Duke of York.
He was married July 5, 1893, to
the Princess Victoria May of Teck. The prince became the Duke of Cornwall when his father took the throne.
In the fall of 1905 he went to India, and upon his return he advocated that more sympathy should be infused in the government of the country.
Owing to the prince's lack of enjoyment of sport, it is expected that his rule will be followed by less gaiety in the court.

London, May 7.—King George V was proclaimed this afternoon. The proclamation was approved by the privy council at 4 o'clock.
With this ceremony and in his forty-fifth year the second son born to King Edward VII and Queen Alexandra becomes the ruler of the united kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland and of the British dominions beyond the seas, king, defender of the faith and emperor of India.

The council met in the throne room
at St. James' palace, under the presidency of the Earl of Crewe, who officiated in the absence of Viscount Wolverhampton, the lord president of the council. The new monarch was given the title of King George V.

The king, who had driven over from Marlborough house, waited in a room adjoining the council chamber while the lengthy formalities leading up to the actual proclamation were proceeding.
The meeting of the privy council was a brilliant function. The king wore the uniform of an admiral and was surrounded by a large gathering of councillors, all in levee dress and wearing the ribbons of their orders.
The lord mayor of the corporation
was in his robes of office.

The councillors having acquainted
the king with the complexion of the proclamation George entered the council chamber and signed the proclamation, after which he confirmed in their offices those who had held appointments under his father at the time of the king's death.

King George delivered a brief but earnest address. He exhibited deep emotion as he announced his determination to endeavor under the guidance of God to maintain the high traditions of the British court and to fulfill to the best of his abilities the great trust reposed in him.

The lord chancellor, Lord Loreburn, administered the oath to the king and,
following the custom, the cabinet ministers swore allegiance to the new sovereign, at the same time tendering their seals of office which the king returned. The ministers kissed the king's hand. The councillors, upon being reappointed, in turn took the oath of allegiance and kissed the king's hand. This concluded the business of the council, and his majesty retired.

The king left St. James' palace on his return to the Marlborough house at 5 o'clock, having been absent for the ceremony just one hour.

In addressing the privy council
King George said his emotion was too deep to permit him to say more than a few words. He recalled the declaration by his father on the similar occasion to the effect that so long as there was breath in his body he would strive to promote the best interests of his people.

The new monarch declared that his father's promise had been amply fulfilled and that it would be his own earnest endeavor, under God, to pursue the same high aim. He referred gratefully to the evidences of deep sympathy from all parts of the empire and said he was thankful to feel that at all times he would have the assistance of the queen in the discharge of the duties of his office.

The king declared that he would
to the best of his ability strive to fully maintain the constitution.

Popular interest in the new ruler is overshadowed by universal grief at the death of Edward VII. The monarch succumbed to pneumonia, which followed a bronchial attack, at Buckingham palace at fifteen minutes before last midnight, in the sixty-ninth year of his life and the tenth year of his reign.

The grief of the dowager queen at the death of her royal husband is pa-

BOTH TO TESTIFY

MR. AND MRS. HYDE TO GO ON STAND IN FAMOUS MURDER CASE.

THE DEFENSE MAY REST MONDAY

Deposition of Sick Woman Taken Saturday Morning Which Contradicts Evidence of Entire Swope Family.

Associated Press.
Kansas City, May 7.—Attorney
Walsh, for Dr. Hyde, expects to rest his side of the case by Monday noon
at the latest, and it is said that both Dr. and Mrs. Hyde probably will be the last witnesses for the defense.
The defense stated today positively that both will testify.
The opening of court today was delayed several hours by the taking of the deposition of Mrs. J. M. Cleary.
She is ill and unable to attend court.
She said in her deposition that Dr.
Hyde and his wife dined at her home
Nov. 21. The Swope family members swore that Dr. Hyde dined at their house on that day, and that his visit was followed by the attacks
of typhoid fever a few days later.

A FIRE LAST NIGHT

Mrs. Annie Atchison's Home Damaged
$500 Worth.

Fire of mysterious origin caused $500 damage to the furniture and contents of Mrs. Annie Atchison's home, 709 East Thirteenth street, at 10:30 o'clock last night.

Mrs. Atchison resides at that address with her son. She arose from bed at the hour stated, thinking she heard her son entering the house.
She struck a match to light a lamp
and instantly the room was enveloped in flames.

Mrs. Nellie Sullivan, the nearest neighbor, notified the fire department,
but before the fire had been extinguished the contents of the house had been damaged to the amount stated.

A part of the loss is covered by insurance.

WATERS ARE UP

HEAVY AND CONTINUED RAINS
MAKE TROUBLE FOR THE RAILROADS.

ONE KATY BRIDGE IS DOWN

Trains Are Running Behind Time and Some Are Detoured—Excursion to Columbia Was Abandoned
Saturday Morning.

The heavy and continued rain of the past two days and nights has demoralized railroad traffic in this section of the state to such an extent that it will be several days before trains are again running on normal time.

The M., K. & T. bridge over the Lamine river, one and one-half miles north of Clifton City, was washed away early Saturday morning, completely blocking traffic on the main line of that road.

The bridge was about one-half block long. The ironwork had been removed some days ago and the bridge proper had been supported by timber until bridgemen could strengthen the piers. The rising waters of the river completely washed away the falsework, and it was stated
at the local offices yesterday that it will be at least three days before trains will be able to pass that section.

As a result of the washout the M., K. & T. excursion to have been run
from Sedalia to Columbia on account of the track and field meet there,
was annulled from Sedalia, the train
being made up and run from Boonville to Columbia.

The Grand river south of Clinton,
according to telegraph reports received at the local offices, was slowly rising last evening and a train of twenty cars of ballast were rushed to the scene to head off the anticipated washout. According to the latest reports the water was rising
one foot an hour.

All trains on the Katy between Sedalia and St. Louis were detoured from this city via the Missouri Pacific, thence over the Katy line to St. Louis.

The Missouri Pacific railway was more fortunate, although if the rain continues the latter road may be put out of commission today.

High water played havoc on the L.
& S. division south of Pleasant Hill,
also on the river route and Lexington branch.

The Lamine river at Otterville threatened trouble, but hopes are entertained that the water will cease rising if the rainfall discontinues.
A bridge over a culvert near Sweet Springs was washed away last night,
blocking traffic on the Lexington branch indefinitely.

Missouri Pacific trains from the river district were detoured via the main line Saturday and some sent from Sedalia to Windsor and thence over the Rock Island tracks to St.
Louis. 9 number of L. & S. trains
were also dispatched via that route.

All trains on both railroads are behind time, and unless the rain ceases falling the damage to the roads will amount to thousands of dollars.

DEATH ARE MYSTERIES

Bodies of Two Negroes Found in Public Road Near Pilot Grove.

Samuel Evans and Cecil Montgomery negroes of Pilot Grove, were found dead by the side of a public road leading from Pilot Grove to Pleasant Green Friday evening.

In close proximity was a buggy and two mules, one dead, the other badly injured. Evans was badly cut on the face and other parts of his body, indicating that he had been foully dealt with.

The supposition is that the men were murdered, but after holding an inquest on the bodies yesterday the coroner's jury returned a verdict of cause unknown.

The last seen alive of the men was Friday evening, when they were driving two white men, both of whom had been refused permission to board M.
K. & T. train No. 1 at Pilot Grove Friday evening on account of their intoxicated condition.

Every indication points to murder
and on that theory the authorities are investigating, although up to a late hour Saturday no trace of the two white men had been gained.
Frank Carter, owner of the mules,

was in Sedalia Saturday, settling with Font Meriwether who carried insurance on the animals.

Rev. Robbins' Lecture Postponed.

The Rev. Grant A. Robbins, pastor of the First M. E. church, who was to have delivered a lecture on "David Copperfield" at Warrensburg Friday night, was notified late Friday that the lecture had been postponed until next Thursday night, owing to the inclement weather.

Mr. Bryan Passed East.
Hon. William Jennings Bryan, editor of the Commoner, was a passenger through Sedalia on Missouri Pacific train No. 2 Saturday noon, en route from Kansas City to St. Louis.

The remains of Mrs. Hiram M.
Thornton, formerly Miss Dovie Estella Harris, of this city, who died Thursday evening at her home at Bushong, Kan., accompanied by the bereaved husband and two youthful sons, arrived in Sedalia on a belated train on the Missouri Pacific railway
at 3:30 o'clock Saturday morning.

The body was taken to the home of deceased's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C.
A. Harris, 911 South Harrison avenue, where brief funeral services will be conducted by the order of the Eastern

Better Horse Races and Exhibits Desired—Gov. Hadley Meets With Promoters—Others Who Were Present.

Things will be looking up at the Missouri state fair at Sedalia, October 1 to 7, if the plans discussed at the luncheon and conference, attended by Gov. Hadley, representatives of the fair association and railroad representatives in St. Louis and Sedalia at Hotel Jefferson yesterday afternoon, bear fruit, says Saturday's St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Plans to increase the attendance at the fair were discussed and it was decided to make an effort to induce the Wright brothers or Glenn Curtiss to make exhibition flights as the principal attraction. It was decided to offer larger prizes for horse racing and agricultural exhibits.

Among those present at the luncheon, which began at 1 o'clock and lasted until 3, were:

WILL INSTRUCT MUSIC

Miss Fay Armstrong, Who Was Graduated at Moberly.

Miss Fay Armstrong, who was graduated from Goetz's conservatory of music at Moberly last Tuesday night, was written of as follows in the Moberly Democrat:

"Miss Fay Armstrong, of Sedalia, executed with great brilliancy of expression one of Chopin's compositions, "Grand Valse," Op. 10, no. 1. Her technique is fine, and her interpretation of this great master was one of the most pleasing features of the concert. We predict for this young lady a very bright future in the musical world, and we further predict that in the future years Sedalia will furnish a great many more of her talented daughters to Goetz's Conservatory of music."

Miss Armstrong is one of Sedalia's brightest and most accomplished
young ladies. She is certainly an artist, and the Democrat-Sentinel is glad to know that she will continue to reside in Sedalia and give instructions in her chosen vocation.

STRUCK BY LIGHTNING

The Barn of Robert H. Cotten, Mile North of Smithton.

A barn owned by Robert H. Cotten, residing one mile north of Smithton,
was struck by lightning during the storm Friday afternoon, and, together with the contents, was totally consumed.

The barn contained seven or eight tons of hay, 500 bushels of corn and a quantity of oats. The damage was about $1,000, partially covered by insurance.

It's Mother's Day Today.

The members of Russell camp, No.
2065, Modern Woodmen of America,
and Violet camp, Royal Neighbors,
will celebrate Mothers' Day today.

The members of the order, each wearing a white carnation, will assemble at the lodge hall at 10 o'clock this morning and march in a body to the First Congregational church, where the pastor, the Rev. Harold Cooper, will deliver a fitting address.

American Woman's League.

The American Woman's League had a good meeting at the rest rooms Saturday afternoon, with a fine attendance, the weather considered.
The local organization now has 95
members, and the interest increases
at each meeting. It is confidently believed that a $15,000 chapter house will be erected in Sedalia in the not very distant future.

BAZAAR ALL WEEK

WILL OPEN AT SACRED HEART
HALL ON THIRD STREET
MONDAY NIGHT.

FR. RUDOLPH STOLTZ IN CHARGE

Number of Beautiful Prizes Will Be Awarded During the Week—A Cordial Invitation to the Public Extended.

Elaborate preparations are being made for the week's bazaar which opens at Sacred Heart Hall tomorrow (Monday) evening. The young ladies of the parish have the affair in charge and will act as hostesses to the visitors throughout the week.
There will be no admission fee charged for entrance to the bazaar.

There are a number of beautifully decorated booths erected throughout the hall, displaying to good advantage the many handsome gifts from friends of the parish. Previously appointed committees have charge of these booths. Particularly noted is the linen booth, where every variety of dainty needle work is exhibited.
Many handsome prizes will be awarded during the week, comprising elaborate pieces of furniture, pictures,
silverware, bric-a-brac, etc.

The "country store," that source of amusement ever new to both old and young, is well stocked, preparatory to supplying the needs of all.

A different program of entertainment will be arranged for each ev-ing, telescopic views of Halley's comet being one of the number. Good music, both vocal and instrumental,
will be interspersed throughout the programs.

The Marian sodality extends a cordial invitation to the other societies of the parish to assist in making this bazaar a success by attending in a body, and bringing their friends on the following evenings: Monday, home-coming; Tuesday, Knights of Columbus; Wednesday, Altar society; Thursday, Young Men's League of Blessed Casper; Friday, Catholic Knights and Ladies of America; Saturday, "reunion" and closing of bazaar.

Rev. Fr. Rudolph, assistant pastor of Sacred Heart church and spiritual director of the Young Ladies' Marian sodality, is in charge of the bazaar,
and promises a hearty welcome and pleasant evening to all in attendance.

WILL TALK FOR "DRYS"

Miss Bertha Bowers to Be Here the Present Week.

Under the auspices of the local W.
C. T. U., Miss Bertha Bowers, of Iowa,
will address the citizens of Sedalia
at the court house Monday and Tuesday evenings of this week.

She will also speak to the men at the Missouri Pacific shops during the noon hour Tuesday, and will speak at the East Sedalia Baptist church Thursday evening. Announcement for Wednesday will be made later.

Miss Bowers is one of the most pleasing speakers on the American platform today. Her recent work in Kansas City and St. Louis was highly complimented by the metropolitan papers. Don't fail to hear her.

May Not Amputate Foot.

Charles Swartzel, aged 18, an M.
K. & T. painter's helper, who had his left foot badly mashed while at work
Friday noon, was resting comfortably
at the company hospital yesterday.
The surgeons at the institution have not decided whether or not amputation will be necessary, but it may be possible to save the member.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY.

Society is like a lawn, where every roughness is smoothed, every blemish eradicated, and where the eye is delighted by the smiling verdure of a velvet surface. He, however, who would study nature in its wildness and variety, must plunge into the forest, must explore the glen, must stem
the torrent and dare the precipice.—
Washington Irving.

GETS THE BUSINESS.

A man who has had experience
with all kinds of advertising mediums, and finally picked upon the living newspaper as the most profitable one in the lot, says in Newspaperman:
"If a concern has something to sell
that has merit, and its price is right,
and if this concern through newspaper advertising, day after day, with a liberal amount of space, tells the people a straight unvarnished tale of good goods, good service and low prices, that concern is bound to get business."
Failure, with these conditions observed, is possible only through unwise selections of the newspaper spokesman. The choice of the right newspaper is an essential part of the program.

The concerns that are getting the lion's share of the business in the field covered by the Sedalia papers are those who regularly use the advertising columns of the Democrat-Sentinel. This is a matter of easy proof.

President Taft, it is said, thinks of vetting the rivers and harbors bill because of the pork with which it is packed. There would be some justification for the administration of a rebuke to the log rollers who have littered this measure with pleasure; but for a president who approved the colossal robbery of the Payne-Aldrich bill this would be like choking at a goat after swallowing
a camel. Compared with the chunks of "pork" in the rivers and harbors bill, the Aldrich wool schedule, for instance, is a hippopotamus in size and offensiveness.

Senator Lodge wants $65,000 to pay
about a hundred government employees to roam about the country to ascertain the retail price of commodities. In answer to this demand Senator Doolittle shows how easily
this information could be obtained
by the expenditure of a few dollars in postage stamps. Senator Gallinger says that the traveling agents would be divided between the two parties. That is a poor reason for employing them.

Mars appears to be an object of never ceasing interest to astronomers. Some of them have discovered another new canal on the planet, and assert that this is further proof that Mars is inhabited. Perhaps our Martian neighbors have been stirred to new activity by the energetic way in which Uncle Sam is making the dirt fly down in Panama.

It was argued that Governor
Hughes would not accept the judge-
ship because the salary was so meager. It is not large, in comparison with the earnings of a corporation lawyer connected up right, but it will enable him to educate his children and pay the premiums on quite a wad of life insurance for the widow.
The name is a good one and what is the use of piling up a lot of tainted money, anyway?

Edward Morris, packer, sees a prospect of cheaper pork, but none of cheaper beef. Hogs are already slipping down from the pinnacle reached by them a few weeks ago, and while the reduced price of grain may react more slowly on the prices of cattle, they must produce an impression there if dear corn be any excuse for dear beef, as men in the trade have been telling us.

Chauncey M. Depew says that he will put all the money and labor necessary into the election of a legislature this fall, and "after the election it will be time enough to consider my own future movements." We betray no confidence in saying that if there should be a democratic majority Mr. Depew will not be a candidate for re-election.

The later information to the effect that the sugar trust frauds have been a matter of common knowledge
for twenty years may in a measure account for the trust's contributions to the republican campaign funds,
and for the tariff favors shown the trust during the period. A matter of honor among highwaymen.

The Portland Oregonian (Ind. Rep.)
takes issue with Senator Beveridge
and those insurgents who still adhere to the principle of protection.
"Insuring" on this basis, it says,
is to no purpose, because it is not founded on the only true principle, tariff for revenue.

Mayor Gaynor, of New York, does not seem to be afraid of anything.
He will march bravely up to a buzz saw with his bare thumbs waving in the air. What he thinks about Willie Randolph Hearst he is willing at all times to express in public.

A local musician as speaking of the voices of two well known singers,
and while admitting that the notes of the first were good, added that those of the second were better still, and now the latter is wondering what was really meant.

It is intimated that as a result of the election in Rochester there will be an early adjournment of congress.
So many republican members of the house will want to go home to repair their damaged fences.

It is said that the republicans of Washington are alarmed and will begin an active campaign of education. Under the circumstances they might do better to advocate the spread of a campaign of illiteracy and stupidity.

It does seem odd that in the city of Danville, the home of Speaker Cannon, a big elephant should run
amuck and afterwards be adjudged insane and executed. This sounds
program.

A New York woman, the wife of

Perhaps the widespread aversion to the United States senate is due to the impression that a four-million

Y. M. C. A. NOTES

The officers and directors of the association, as well as the members,
are rejoicing over the membership contest. The fact that 101 men and boys united with the association in less than three weeks shows the interest and loyalty that the members have in the organization. The members of the different teams are to be congratulated upon their efforts and the results secured. The members of the Pink team will enjoy the banquet on Thursday evening, May 12, at 6:45 p. m. The committee of ladies in charge are sure to give the winners a splendid banquet. The members of the Red team are to show their true sporting instinct by being on hand to wash the dishes,
as per agreement when the contest
started.

Another contest opened today between Mr. Herman Demand, assistant secretary, and Mr. H. H. Barth, physical director, to see who will secure the most members by June 10.
Of course, the friends of these two men may help them if they so desire.

Interest in the physical classes is increasing steadily—forty-one boys in the gymnasium class Saturday morning, and Tuesday and Friday nights
men's classes are well attended.

On Tuesday night a picture will be taken of the men's class, on Wednesday afternoon of the boys' class.
Thursday afternoon the High school class, and Thursday evening the banquet. Weather permitting, a "hike" will be taken to the country
next Saturday.

The attendance in the reading and game rooms has been surprisingly large, and show the value of the association movement to the growing manhood of Sedalia. If such numbers of young men and boys can be secured and interest held in the poorly equipped and inadequate quarters that we are now occupying, with a new building properly constructed and furnished, the Young Men's Christian association could be the means of protecting and saving much larger numbers of the boys and young men. When you compare the cost of maintenance for protecting character to the cost of caring for the criminal class or unfortunate, it is plain to be seen that an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure. The work that has been done the past year must surely appeal to every man or woman who has the interest of the young men and the welfare of the city at heart.

During March a great effort was made to close the year free from debt, and because of the splendid co-operation that the men and women of Sedalia gave the officers the association was enabled to end its first year's work absolutely free of debt.

Starting out with the new year with the new responsibilities the association must have the financial support of those who believe in helping men and boys to a higher efficiency. The secretary or treasurer of the association, or any of its officers, will be very glad to call on any one who wishes to know more of the work done by the association and the present needs of the organization.

he is a big, brainy man and a shrewd

John D. Brown, for many years a Pettis county resident, died at the home of Hugh M. Brown, two miles east of Green Ridge, on Monday of this week, after a protracted illness of cancer of the stomach, says the Green Ridge News of May 6.

Mr. Brown was at one time proprietor of the Brown Telegraph school at Sedalia, but said that institution some years ago on account of failing health, since which time he had resided here and at Kansas City.

He was a brother of M. H. Brown, of the north side. The funeral was held on Tuesday of this week, and the remains were taken to Dresden for burial.

MR. ILGENFRITZ' RECITAL

Famous Pianist Will Be at Jesse French Piano Parlors Thursday.

McNair Ilgenfritz, the pianist, will give a recital at the Jesse French piano parlors Thursday night, May 12. He will be assisted by Mrs. E. F. Yancey and Miss Allie Brown and Messrs. Wrightman and Metcalf.

Mr. Ilgenfritz has fully mastered the piano, as many Sedalians who have known him will testify. He is regarded in St. Louis and Chicago and other cities where he has appeared as one of the best pianists in America.

Mr. Ilgenfritz studied in Paris one year with Moszkowski, the famous polish pianist, and was with Stasmi, the celebrated Austrian. He also attended the New England conservatory at Boston, giving him international fame. His playing at St. Louis and Chicago, after his return from school, created a sensation and he was declared by critics to be one of the best pianists in America.

Mr. Ilgenfritz made his debut in vaudeville in St. Louis two weeks ago, where he was a pronounced success. He will tour the country in vaudeville next season, beginning in August.

The recital Thursday will be a demonstration of his skill and an event no one should miss. The admission will be 50c.

HOW IS YOUR APPETITE TO-DAY?

Is it keen and normal or do you have that "don't care" sort of feeling? Loss of appetite is one of the surest signs of inward weakness and if you are wise you will heed the warning promptly and take a few doses of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. The system requires a certain amount of nourishment every day in order to keep up health and strength and to replace the waste portions. This can only be accomplished with a keen appetite and perfect digestion and assimilation of the food. Then again Hostetter's Stomach Bitters should be taken. It will stimulate the flow of gastric juices, so essential to perfect digestion, and aid in every way possible. For over 56 years it has been used with wonderful success in cases of Poor Appetite, Heartburn, Flatulency, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Costiveness, Biliousness and Malaria.

TWAS PLAIN STEALING

Akin Not to Blame for Shortage in the Sub-Treasury.

Associated Press.
Washington, D. C., May 7.—The house committee on expenditures of the treasury department, in its adverse report to the house on the proposition to investigate a shortage of $61,000 in the custom house and sub-treasury at St. Louis, says no responsibility attaches to the assistant treasurer, Thos. J. Atkin, for the shortage, which was characterized as a "plain case of stealing" by those in immediate touch with the finances of the sub-treasury.

thetic. Since early morning she has been in and out of the death chamber directing everything, personally placing the wealths of flowers that have been received and giving her directions with stately dignity. She cannot be persuaded to remain in her room to take the rest of which she is so much in need.

The funeral arrangements are not yet announced, but the expectation of court officials is that the body of the king will be buried at Frogmore near the bodies of his father, mother and son. The burial probably will be delayed for ten days to allow time for the arrival of foreign deputations.

The New Prince of Wales.

London, May 7.—Prince Edward Albert, who now becomes Prince of Wales and heir apparent to the British throne, will be 16 this coming June. He is a merry, light hearted youngster and the fact that he may some day be king does not weigh heavily upon his mind. He is devoted to animals and has a whole menagerie of pets. Two years ago he made his entry into Osborne college as a pupil and immediately became very popular with his young class mates. One of these was heard to describe the royal pupil as a "jolly good fellow, even if he is a prince."

It is said that the prince is not a brilliant scholar, but that he is a hard worker and very diligent in his studies. The importance of his place in the machine of state is now much magnified by the death of the king, which brings him one step nearer the throne. Unless present plans change the prince will become a sailor, the present intention being to send him to sea in the training ship Britannia.

The only girl in the family is the Princess Victoria Alexandra, who is now 13 years old. She is not pretty, her features being very irregular, but she has an animated expression and all the charm of healthy girlhood. Gifted with quick wit and a keen mind, she easily manages to hold her own in the lessons which she takes with her brother Albert. Among her accomplishments are music, French, German, Italian, dancing and painting.

Albert Frederick, the second boy, is 14, and studies at home with his sister and younger brothers. He is more grave in temperament and is more quiet than Prince Edward, but like him, he likes animals and excels in outdoor sports.

Albert and the princess are inseparable companions; and although Edward still occupies the important position of big brother in the family, his absence at school has raised Albert to that rank except at holiday time. Henry William, the third boy, is 10 years old, is a great reader and is very fond of his studies. The next in age is George Edward, now 8. His chief amusement is in sailing toy boats. John Charles, the baby, is 5 years old.

The New Queen Is Popular.

The new queen of England has always been "Princess May" to her people. Her name is Victoria Mary Augusta Louise Olga Pauline Claudine Agnes. She was born May 26, 1867. Her mother, the Duchess of Teck, reared her only daughter in all the best traditions of the country. The mother once refused the crown of an empress. She once said: "I would rather be a princess of England than have any other title in the whole world."

The new queen has inherited patriotism almost fierce in its intensity. She is thoroughly imbued with the traditions of the early Victorian reign and is inclined toward the stately and more exclusive court life which marked the first part of Queen Victoria's reign.

Princess May was the only daughter, and her brothers, the Duke of Teck, the Prince Francis and Prince Alexander, led her a merry life. The story is told that they used to pull her curls. Being the only girl, she was the idol of her mother and the pet of her father. She became devoted to horticulture as she approached womanhood and she laid out and planned many of the improvements in the gardens surrounding White Lodge. Until 1902 the princess never presided over a London drawing room.

Princess May is now 43 years old. She has been an ideal wife and mother. It remains for her to make her self an ideal queen, and those who have watched her since childhood confidently predict that she will make her influence felt at court.

Praised By Colonel Roosevelt.

thy for the British people in their loss. We in America keenly appreciated King Edward's personal good will toward us, which he so frequently and so markedly showed, and we are well aware of the devotion felt for him by his subjects throughout the British empire, while foreign nations have learned to see in the king a ruler whose great abilities, and especially his tact, his judgment and his unflinching kindness of nature rendered him peculiarly fit to work for international justice and peace.

"Let me repeat that I am sure all American people feel at this time the deepest and most sincere sympathy for his family and his nation."

Mr. Roosevelt also sent a personal telegram to the dowager queen.

to George V., the new king of Great Britain:

"The White House, May 7, 1910.—His Majesty King George V., London: In renewing to your majesty the condolences of the American government and people on the death of his late majesty, I convey you the heartiest good wishes for the prosperity of your reign.—William H. Taft."

Summary of the Life of Dead King.

Edward was born at Buckingham palace on Nov. 9, 1841, the son of Queen Victoria and Prince Albert of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha. Educated by private tutors on a plan outlined by his father, he later studied at Edinburgh, Oxford and Cambridge.

A long period of travel followed, during which he went over Europe and the east. In 1860 he made a triumphal tour through the United States and Canada.

The prince was married on March 10, 1863, to Princess Alexandra, eldest daughter of the Danish prince, who became some months later King Christian IX.

Six children were born, two of whom, the Duke of Clarence and Prince Alexander, died. The surviving children are George Frederick, prince of Wales, Duke of Cornwall and York, who now becomes king; Princess Louise, who was married to the Duke of Fife; Princess Victoria Alexandra and Princess Maud Charlotte, who was married to Prince Karl, of Denmark, now King Haakon, of Norway.

The king was of the house of Hanover, which dates ascension to the throne of King George I, in 1714.

A Change of Roosevelt's Plans.

London, May 7.—The dowager queen has received a telegram from Theodore Roosevelt expressing his sincere sympathy. The plans for the entertainment of Mr. Roosevelt here necessarily will be materially modified, but in just what particulars is not yet made known.

Irishmen, Too, Must Mourn.

Dublin, May 7.—Richard Croker, speaking of the death of England's king, said: "The world of sport loses not only a royal patron, but a noble friend. In truth he was the king of sportsmen of England. Irishmen of all shades of opinion can but mourn one who was a pattern to all sportsmen."

Roosevelt May Represent Country.

Washington, D. C., May 7.—President Taft called at the British embassy today and remained in conversation with Ambassador Bryce for fifteen minutes. The entire diplomatic colony was represented in the callers. Periods of mourning for Edward were announced by the British, Russian and German embassies, and the Greek, Danish and Norwegian legations. This practically ends the social season. It is thought that the president will appoint Roosevelt as special ambassador at the king's funeral.

All England in Gloom.

London, May 7.—All the cities of England are plunged in the deepest gloom over King Edward's death, and all business is totally suspended. The grief of the dowager queen is most pathetic.

German Emperor to Attend Funeral.

Berlin, May 7.—The emperor of Germany it is reported will attend King Edward's funeral, and Roosevelt's visit here must in consequence be postponed.

Fishes Do Walk, if They Don't Reason

It may seem absurd to speak of fishes as walking, says London Tit-Bits. The flying fish is well known, but its flight looks much like swimming in the air. We naturally think of fishes as living always in water, as being incapable, in fact, of living anywhere else. But nature maintains no hard and fast lines of distinction between animal life which belongs to the land and that which belongs to the water. If we can believe the accounts of naturalists, there are fishes that traverse land. Dr. Francis Day, of India, has collected several instances of the migration of fishes by land from one piece of water to another. A party of English officers were upon one occasion encamped in a certain part of India, when their attention was attracted by a rustling sound in the grass and leaves. Investigation showed it to be caused by myriads of little fishes that were making for one direction and were passing slowly on. There were hundreds of them moving by using their side and small fins as feet; now upright, now falling down, squirming, bending, rolling over, regaining their fins and again passing on. These fishes were the famous climbing perch, and they were passing over the country to avoid a drouth. When the stream in which they have been spending the season dries up, they scale the banks, and directed by some marvelous instinct, crawl to another.

Our Friends the Spiders.

I think it can be said, remarks S. F. Aaron in Collier's, that there never has been one authentic case of spider bite. The so-called spider bites received occasionally, and generally in early summer, often in bed, in-

On one of the Thousand Islands an enterprising American has started a pheasant farm. He expects in time to have 4,000 to 5,000 English golden pheasants on his island. As the nearest land is half a mile away, he thinks he will be able to keep them at home.

As a man was having his luncheon in the coffee room of a Birmingham hotel he was much annoyed by another visitor, who during the whole of the meal stood with his back to the fire warming himself and watching him partake of his repast. At length, unable to endure it any longer, he rang the bell and said: "Waiter, kindly turn that gentleman round; I think he is done on that side."

Entertainment By Children of the Broadway School.

The entertainment by the little ones of grades one, two and three of the Broadway school, which was given on Friday night last at the High school auditorium, will be repeated at the same place Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock, unless it is raining.

This is in response to requests from all parts of the city by those who, owing to the terrific storm, were unable to see the little ones do their "stunts" at the first performance.

The proficiency shown by these children in going through the parts assigned them with such grace and precision was a revelation to many in attendance, and a very complimentary to Mrs. Anna H. Holt, who trained them. So thoroughly did she have her little performers drilled that only once did she have to utter a word, the children as a whole or singly taking their places promptly at the sound of the piano.

Mrs. Holt might have been less successful with her entertainers if she had not had thoroughly disciplined pupils as her performers, so that the success of the entertainment also reflects credit upon the teachers who train them from day to day.

If you did not see this unique and beautifully sweet performance on Friday night, be sure that you do see it on Monday night. Doubtless many who braved the storm to see the first performance will be glad to witness the repetition of it.

The sum of $80 was realized from the sale of tickets, with some small incidental expenses to be paid out of that.

Remember the place, the time and the hour, and be on hand—Monday evening at the auditorium of the High school, at 7:30 o'clock.

CURING A SUNBURN.

Oil, to Which Most People Resort, Not the Thing to Use, Says a Doctor.

Most people seem to believe that oil will give relief in cases of sunburn which are severe enough to need treatment.

"It is certainly high time," a doctor said the other day, "that persons suffering from sunburn should know that it is not going to do them any good to cover themselves with oil of any kind. What is needed is a cooling astringent.

"An application of oil in any form will only serve to make the sunburn worse, yet in nine cases out of ten it will be oil in some form that a sufferer will apply. Where greasy applications will cause the irritation of sunburn to continue, a cooling, astringent applied on a compress will soothe almost immediately.

The sun has this year been blamed for other evils than sunburns. There has been an impression that the actinic rays have been more powerful than usual and that they have caused much eye trouble, the sufferers being principally persons who wear glasses.

"There has been no increase in the sale of our colored glasses," said an optician in town, asked about the matter, "in spite of the talk about the actinic rays this summer. There has not been a summer in recent years without some story about the actinic rays and their bad consequences.

"At one time people were wearing yellow glasses to counteract their effect; one oculist gave his patients amethyst glasses, and at another time the only kind of glasses that did any good were said to be violet glasses. But the people who kept on wearing their ordinary glasses seemed to have just as comfortable eyes as those that tried all these novelties."

Rabbit and Batter Pudding.

Prepare a batter in this way an hour or two before you want to use it. Sift a quarter-pound flour into a basin with half a teaspoonful of salt. Break an egg into the center, and pour in quarter cupful of milk. Beat till perfectly smooth with a wooden spoon, then gradually add one cupful of milk beating all the time.

Set this batter aside for one hour. Melt a heaping tablespoonful of dripping in a deep tin or pudding dish, when hot lay in one canned rabbit. Season with a little salt and pepper and pour the batter over. Bake in a hot oven for half an hour. It will puff up beautifully and be nicely browned if the oven is hot enough. Serve at once.

Soda for Digestion.

The habit of taking bicarbonate of soda for digestive troubles may give relief if carefully indulged in, but is dangerous to tamper with. A half teaspoonful of baking soda to a glass of water will often cure acute indigestion or settle a disordered stomach, but one should not get into the habit of taking it after each meal, as is often done.

Even more injurious is the practice of munching dry soda. This, if not checked, becomes as much of a chain as opium or cocaine. Carried to excess it eats out the lining of the stomach and eventually makes the bones brittle.

WHAT SEDALIA GOT

In the Track and Field Meet at Columbia Yesterday.

The Sedalia High school won fifth honors in the mile race at the track and field meet at Columbia Saturday, and fourth honors in the relay race.

Julius Schmid scored the honors in the first event, while the relay race was won by Bower in the first lap; Scanland, in the second; Boult, in the third, and McNeil in the fourth.

According to a telephone message to the Democrat-Sentinel at 7 o'clock last evening, there was a small crowd present at the meet and rain fell continually during the events.

Students of the Kemper Military academy at Boonville carried off most of the honors in class A, while Joplin high school students satisfied themselves with most of the honors in class B.

The Sedalia contestants, according to the message, did not know when they would be able to return home, due to the demoralization of train service, but expected to arrive some time today.

THE PEER OF COLLEGES

CENTRAL BUSINESS COLLEGE LEADS ALL OTHER SIMILAR COLLEGES IN THE WORLD.

SETS THE PACE IN THE TEACHING

Originality Has Made Central the Greatest Business Learning Institution of Modern Times.

The largest business college in America located in a city of 25,000 inhabitants.

Leads all others. The first to make a specialty of rapid business figuring.

The first to organize its pupils into a business community and have them actually perform each transaction before making the entry in their books.

The first to discard theory in its business work.

The first to employ teachers who had held high salaried positions with actual business firms in the subjects they teach. Central business College, Sedalia, Mo., is the largest business college in America located in a city no larger than Sedalia, and is the leading business college in the United States. So rapidly does this marvelous institution originate and adopt labor saving methods, and introduce the latest improvements in its course of study that it leaves other business colleges in the background.

When this institution introduced Rapid Calculation as an important study in a Business College, other colleges sneered at the idea, but by writing a textbook of 246 pages on the subject, and making exhibitions at fairs with pupils who had become expert calculators, C. B. C. compelled other business colleges to introduce this subject into their course of study.

Central Business College, about twenty years ago, declared to the business world that bookkeeping and expert accounting could not be taught successfully by theory, that the pupil must perform business transactions from the day he entered school, making his entries from these transactions; that he must straighten up tangled sets of books while in school if he hoped to be able to do it after leaving school. Hence this institution about twenty years ago originated its Auditing method of bookkeeping.

Central Business College claimed that teachers who have never held actual positions, hence had not become familiar with the details of office work, not competent to teach the pupil actual business so he could take a position and hold it intelligently, directly from school. It claimed this on the principle that a man can't teach something he doesn't know. Hence it organized its pupils into a business community of Retail and Wholesale and Banking firms, and had them actually transact all kinds of business. Since that time this institution has never had a graduate from its business department fail to keep the most difficult set of books in the business world. The Shorthand, Telegraph and Penmanship courses are equally thorough and practical.

Saloon Thought No. 386

Here is the testimony of a lady music teacher in a wet and dry town of Iowa: "I have been teaching music in Ottumwa, Iowa, for several years. In regard to the dry and wet population, I have observed this: The saloons were voted out, and in a few weeks, as I made my visits to the homes, I would notice a new rug here and there, a new piece of furniture, a house painted here that had needed it badly for years, etc.; and then the saloons were voted back, and it was very noticeable to see the difference. Many of the mothers of my pupils would tell me that they would have to quit giving the children lessons, as the saloons were back, and the pay check, or only a small portion of it reached home any more, and so they quit, and took the children out of school for the want of clothes. I was not the only one that lost in this way; the furniture dealer, the carpet man, the wall paper man and all of us lost by the saloon's prosperity."

A Lawyer's Appeal to a Chicago Jury.

The following speech was made to a jury by a certain lawyer in the city of Chicago on May 22nd, 1876, and has recently been reproduced by the Chicago Chronicle:

"Gentlemen of the jury, I am aware that there is a prejudice against any man engaged in the manufacture of alcohol. I know there is a prejudice against a case of this kind, and there is a very good reason for it. I believe to a certain degree with the district attorney in this case, who has said that every man who makes whiskey is demoralized. I believe, gentlemen, to a certain degree, it demoralizes those who make it, those who sell it, and those who drink it. I believe from the time it issues from the colled and poisonous worm of the distillery, until it empties into the hell of crime, dishonor, and death, that it demoralizes everybody that touches it. I do not believe anybody can contemplate the subject without becoming prejudiced against this liquid crime. All we have to do, gentlemen, is to think of the wrecks upon either bank of the stream of death—the suicides, of the insanity, of the poverty, of the little children tugging at the faded dresses of weeping and despairing wives asking for bread, of the men of genius it has wrecked; the millions struggling with imaginary serpents produced by this devilish thing. And when you think of the jails, of the almshouses, of the asylums, of the prisons, of the scaffolds upon either hand—I do not wonder that every thoughtful man is prejudiced against the damned stuff called alcohol."

A FIFTY POUND CATFISH

It Was Caught By H. G. Bowman and George Franklin.

H. G. Bowman and George Franklin, the implement salesman, returned Saturday afternoon from Warsaw, having in their possession a 50-pound catfish, which they claim they caught on a throwline in the Osage river at Warsaw yesterday morning.

The fish was taken to Walch's cafe, where it was exhibited to hundreds. The gentlemen also brought home a sworn affidavit from a number of Warsaw residents attesting as to the manner in which the fish was caught.

WIT AND HUMOR

A Nickel Cigar.

A good "kid" story from the Hutcherson Gazette: It was the boss' birthday. The office boy knew it, because he had heard the boss' wife say so. The office boy worshipped the boss and had bought him a birthday present. Often he had heard the boss say that the only presents he liked were cigars, providing they were ten-cent cigars, and he was worried for fear the boss might not like his present.

The boss came in and threw open his desk. Lying there he saw a small parcel. He opened it and found it contained a cigar. He looked at it closely. It was a nickel cigar.

"Huh," said the boss, disgustedly, then he noticed that there was writing on the paper. He read:

"Happy birthday. I didn't buy a ten center because I only had a nickel."

The boss bit the end off the cigar, reached in his pocket and drew out a match and lighted the weed. He puffed critically a minute.

"I didn't know they made such good cigars for a nickel," he said.—Kansas City Journal.

GOING AFTER THEM

SPRINGFIELD WANTS PEOPLE TO GET BUSY IN MATTER OF THE CENSUS.

EACH ADDITIONAL NAME, 5 CENTS

This is to Be Paid School Children and Also a Special Prize for the Child That Hands in the Largest Number.

At a meeting of the Springfield club last night information was received from business men that many families of Springfield and even wholesale manufacturing establishments of the city had been left out of the count of the census enumerators, says the Leader, and that the census of the city would show an unsatisfactory enumeration unless a systematic campaign was carried out.

It was decided by the club members to assist the census enumerators in every way possible, and to make a final effort this week to enlist all citizens in the enumeration.

A committee of them was named which will have charge of the census campaign and will formulate a number of plans by which it is hoped to largely increase the Springfield census. The committee is composed of Louis P. Ernst, Emmett Newton and Vinton Bray. With assistants they will canvass the city in an effort to reach every business house, hotel, office or home which the census enumerators have missed.

The school children will be enlisted in the census campaign and will be given 5 cents for each name which is added to the census through their efforts. The names should be telephoned to Grant Johnson at the Springfield club. The campaign started this morning and will be continued this week. A special prize for the child who turns in the largest number of names will be announced later.

A NEAT WRITE UP

Rev. Harold Cooper Has It In Springfield Publication.

"Triple Link," a Springfield, Mo., publication, of the last issue, has a column and one-half writeup by the Rev. Harold Cooper, of this city, pertaining to the new Odd Fellows' home in this city, which is nearing completion.

The writeup gives a complete description of the structure, together with a photograph of same, and deals at length of the efforts of Sedalia's Odd Fellows to land the grand lodge headquarters for this city.

Strong efforts are being made by local members of the order to have the headquarters of the lodge transferred to Sedalia and at the state convention at Columbia on May 16, 17 and 18 formal announcement of such plans will be made.

The petroleum production of the United States in 1908 has been estimated at between 175,000,000 and 180,000,000 barrels, an increase of 5 to 9 per cent., as compared with the production of 166,000,000 barrels in 1907.

WANTS TO BE PROSECUTOR

George W. Anamosa Announces His Aspirations for County Office.

This issue of the Democrat-Sentinel contains the formal announcement of George W. Anamosa for the nomination for the office of prosecuting attorney of Pettis county at the republican primary, August 2d.

Mr. Anamosa is well known in Pettis county. His struggles to establish himself are well known, and the story of the privations and sacrifices he made in assisting the family and at the same time gain for himself an education has been published and republished since his advent in public life. He is admired for the pluck and energy displayed, and is an object lesson of what can be accomplished when the desire and determination come to one. Mr. Anamosa is a self made man. Leaving the farm when a lad of 15 years, he set out to aid in the support of the family and at the same time provide himself with an education. He worked before and after school hours in his determination to win. He succeeded. He graduated from the Sedalia public schools and the law school of Columbia university and went to Yale, where he won greater honors. He returned from Yale, opened a law office and is now one of the leading lawyers of the community.

Mr. Anamosa, elected two years ago representative of Pettis county to the state legislature, won a hard fight last year in procuring for the state fair an appropriation and it was here that he asserted himself and showed conclusively his attitude in all public affairs to be the best, especially when Sedalia and Pettis county were concerned. Mr. Anamosa was instrumental in obtaining $80,000 for the Missouri State Fair after only $41,000 had been appropriated. His determination to excel is again exemplified. Mr. Anamosa will make a good race and is thoroughly worthy of any consideration the republican party may give him.

Why Leaders in Wall Paper.

George Randolph Chester's saying: "All business is conducted for a profit, and the only way to get it is by keeping alive and knowing things that other people find out tomorrow," is practiced by the George E. Dugan Wall Paper Co., which firm has adopted it as its policy, and adheres to it strictly from season to season.

Always alive to things up-to-date, this store this season has more forcibly than ever demonstrated its forethought and progressiveness in wall paper styles and ideas. This is made possible by close application and study, which, on account of being a wall paper store exclusively, affords it an advantage.

CLAIMS AN ENGINE WAS NOT INSPECTED AND A WRECK WAS RESULT.

COACH, CAB AND CABOOSE ITEMS

Matters of Interest Picked Up From Various Sources for the Benefit of Democrat-Sentinel Readers.

The Globe Democrat of Saturday morning prints the following of local interest:

"A. O. Wharton, president of the employees' committee of the Missouri Pacific railroad, claims that, owing to the machinists' strike, the company's engines are in bad shape, and that about sixty engines are tied up in the yards awaiting machinists to repair them.

"He also claims that, had the company offered some inclination to arbitrate, the men would now be back at work and that the disaster near Poplar Bluff, in which one man was killed and twenty-five persons were injured, never would have occurred. "He claims the fireman declared the air brakes refused to work. Mr. Wharton says that this would never have happened had the engine been inspected by machinists. He says also that he is positive the company has strike breakers doing machinists' work in the yards.

"A. W. Sullivan, general manager of the Missouri Pacific, claims no non-union men have been employed and that the machinists rejected the company's offer to arbitrate."

Another item from the Saturday issue of the Globe-Democrat follows: "General Manager Sullivan, of the Missouri Pacific, said yesterday that with reference to the strike of the machinists the running repairs are being made at the roundhouses as usual. The places of the strikers in the shops here and elsewhere will be filled, as the company is receiving numerous applications from various points.

The management feels that every reasonable concession has been made to its employees, and the position taken last week, when the men were offered precisely the same terms upon which agreements were signed with the Katy and other companies will be adhered to. The company's further offer to arbitrate the points of difference was declined by the employees' committee."

Students to Test Locomotive.

The students in the mechanical department of the school of engineering of the University of Missouri at Columbia will spend this week in making experimental tests upon a locomotive loaned them by the Wabash railroad.

The students will have complete control of the engine for one week to operate on the branch line from Columbia to Centralia, a distance of twenty miles.

The purpose of the tests is to determine the amount of coal necessary to operate the engine, the amount of power the coal will produce and the difference in power required on grades and curved sections of track. The results of the experiments will be published in a bulletin.

A Katy Brakeman Weds.

Harry Smith, an M. K. & T. brakeman, and Miss Lucile Tanner, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Tanner, the announcement of whose engagement was made in the Democrat-Sentinel several days ago, stole a march on their friends Saturday and were secretly married by the Rev. W. A. McClanahan, pastor of the Fifth Street M. E. Church South. The bridal couple left on the Katy flyer for a few days' visit at St. Louis, after which they will be at home to friends at Mr. Smith's residence, on Brown avenue.

EMPRESS EUGENIE

STILL HOPES TO SEE DESCENDANT OF NAPOLEON ON THE THRONE OF FRANCE.

THE EVILS OF FORTUNE TELLING

Novel Method Taken By Resident of French Town to Impress Upon Railways the Necessity of a Station.

BY GEORGE DUFRESNE.
International News Service.

Paris, May 7.—Empress Eugenie, widow of the last unfortunate ruler of the house of Bonaparte, has given proof that she still clings to the hope of seeing a descendant of the great Napoleon on the throne of France. Through her private secretary she has a few days ago made an announcement which will bring gladness to those old army veterans who took part in the campaigns of the Second Empire. An old Alsatian soldier appealed for assistance to the Empress's private secretary, and has received a lengthy letter from the latter.

The communication sets forth that the Empress intends to remember the faithful soldiers of the Emperor Na-customers enough to populate a large town.

Young and old have come to him to have their fortunes revealed. Girls wanted to know if they were going to marry soldiers and be happy, and young men wanted to know how to find the brunette or blonde that would suit them, with a handsome dowry; while widows looked for a second husband, and disappointed lovers wanted to know how fate would revenge them.

The so-called astrologer has, it seems, been giving satisfaction to all until recently. Some of his customers, finding that the prediction did not exactly come out as they had expected, vented their discontent in a formal complaint, which they lodged with a magistrate.

A police officer was appointed to inquire into the case, and the first discovery which he made was that the fortune-teller had a vast "practice," which the most successful practitioner might envy. He had as many as 15,000 customers in all ranks of society. When applied to he would readily, and without exacting a fee, cast the horoscope of the applicant. If more was wanted, the price was $10 for a complete "fortune," $5 for less complete, 15 francs for a period of fifteen years, 10 francs for ten years, 5 francs for five years, etc.

Those who encouraged the alleged astrologer actually proposed a sort of association of his followers, to be called the "Universal Fraternal and Spiritualists Union," with the object of buying him a house, to cost about $6,000, to be built somewhere in the country, preferably on a high spot, and with a nice garden round it. Much of the money, it seems, had already been subscribed, when the complaint came along to interfere with the scheme.

In passing, it may be said that the trace of an astrologer or fortune-teller is not one of the legally recognized professions in France, and the police have from time to time tried to check the practice. But so many disappointed lovers, prospective brides, and jilted spinsters, and perplexing specimens of the sterner sex long so much to have their fortunes told by men with foolscap bonnets and wizards' sticks that the police gave up as hopeless to uproot the prejudice, and confined at the goings-on of astrologers and their clients.

The one against whom the complaint has been lodged is no better and no worse than his colleagues, and is going about in full liberty, carrying on his trade unmolested by the police inquiry, which he hopes will turn out to his advantage.

A curious conflict has arisen between a pretty suburban place known as Villeneuve-le-Roi, situated not far from Juvisy, and the Orleans Railway Company, whose lines pass through the town.

For the last fifteen years the residents of the district, who number about 5,000, have been petitioning to have a station, and the company has persistently ignored their request, and compels them to go to Ablon, a half-hour's walk, to take the train. Having lost all their patience, the townsfolk turned out in a body, walked to the line, and held up the Southern express and the Limoges to Paris fast train as well. They little imagined the tremendous excitement which their act caused at the neighboring stations and in Paris. Within a few minutes of each other, the telegraphic transmitter reported first, "Sud express blocked," then, Limoges to Paris blocked.

The station-masters bounded from their desks, and the chief superintendents of the headquarters trembled. All they could learn in a supplementary message was that both trains were held up within a few hundred yards of the thirteenth kilometre post. The thirteenth kilometre post in question is the only way in which the railway company deigned to recognize the important town of Villeneuve-le-Roi.

Meanwhile, as the trains were blocked at No. 13 post, the band, known as L'Amicale de Villeneuve, played a tune on the road, while a chorus of boys and girls sang, and otherwise tried to show their joy to the amazed passengers in both express trains, who had to make a strong mutual effort to convince themselves that they were not traveling through some wild part of Africa, populated by savage tribes.

During all this time, the leading citizens of the thirteenth kilometre post were parleying with the chief guard of the train, to which they handed a big signboard, with the inscription, "We want a Station." The guard took some time to realize the situation, and that he was not dealing with a settlement of lunatics let loose.

The thirteenth kilometre post had hitherto been a very peaceable spot, to which he had never paid the slightest attention in his weekly travels between Paris and Irun. It was now brought home to him by means of red flags.

A deputation consisting of the mayor himself, the member of the Chamber, all the local dignitaries, and chief citizens and shopkeepers, accompanied by a band and chorus, made it clear that they had selected No. 13 for a station. They had petitioned the railway company, the government and parliament and had obtained no satisfaction.

"We will hold up the trains," was the decision to which they came at a public meeting called for the purpose of advising on the last means to be taken, and which was presided over by the mayor.

The whole meeting at once marched down to the railway, men and women carrying banners with inscriptions to rally the entire population. A few minutes later the Sud express was due. "Let us hold it up!" was the cry. "It is the fastest train on the line, and usually flies past the thirteenth kilometre post at a tremendous speed."

The crowd got on the line, and some distance down men ran waving red flags. The driver of the express saw the signals some six hundred yards away, and put on all brakes. Sparks darted from the rails as the heavy carriages and locomotives slid along, and were finally brought to a halt at post No. 13.

"What is wrong?" asked the driver and guard, anxiously.

"We want a station," was all they could hear; and then it was that the delegation of leading citizens presented the signboard.

The Limoges-Paris express was due at that time, and it was held up in the same way. Both trains remained blocked for about ten minutes, when they were allowed to proceed, while the citizens of post No. 13 went back to their homes, delighted at the success of their demonstration.

COUNTESS OF WARWICK!

Has Reappeared Upon the Scene as a Socialist Leader.

International News Service.
London, May 7.—The Countess of Warwick has reappeared as a socialist leader, after a period of quiescence. She was "chairman" of a recent meeting of the socialist democratic party at Queen's hall, convened to hear an address from the veteran socialist, H. M. Hyndman.

Beginning her speech with "Comrades and Friends," the countess described socialism as the greatest cause in the world. But she confessed that while socialists were looking for some light, for some leader, nothing appeared on the horizon but the stereotyped warfare, of which she, as well as her comrades, was heartily sick.

She declared she was unable to understand how Christians could defend the present social system, which allowed the existence of starving children, homeless people and foul slums as a suitable state of affairs in a Christian country.

WILL BE SEEN AT THE SHAKESPEAREAN BALL IN LONDON ON JUNE 27.

AID MEMORIAL NATIONAL THEATRE

Will Be 160,000 Feet of Dancing Room, and Is Expected There Will Be 4,000 Persons Dancing at One Time.

International News Service.

London, May 7.—Certainly the most wonderful and probably the most beautiful spectacle of the kind that has ever been witnessed bids fair to be afforded by the great Shakespearean Fancy Dress ball, which is to be held at the Albert Hall on June 27, in aid of the Shakespeare Memorial National theatre.

There have been Shakespeare balls before, to be sure—at Stratford-on-Avon and elsewhere—but nothing on a scale approaching that of the forthcoming function, which will bring together all the most brilliant and distinguished people who gather in London at the height of the season.

It is hoped that royalty itself may grace the occasion, while on the ladies' committee, with Mrs. George Cornwallis-West in the chair, are to be found already the Duchess of Somerset, the Duchess of Marlborough, the Duchess of Sutherland, the Marchioness of Salisbury, the Countess of Weymouth, Muriel Countess de la Warr, the Countess of Lytton, Cora Countess of Strafford, the Countess of Londesborough, Lady Gwendoline Churchill, Lady Helen Vincent, Lady Maude Warrender, Viscountess Ridley, Lady Ashby St. Ledgers, Lady Curzon, Lady Hamilton, Lady Jekyll, Lady Paget, Lady Saville, Lady Spencer, Lady Wenlock, Lady Wernher, Lady Tree, Mrs. Rupert Beckett, Hon. Mrs. Alfred Lyttleton, Mrs. Winston Churchill, Mrs. Ronald Creville and Mrs. Edward Stoner.

These ladies, it may be said, represent just a few of the earliest promises of enthusiastic interest and help. The committee itself will consist of over 300 leaders of society, and there will be no fewer than 100 stewards. As even the 160,000 feet of dancing room afforded when the special floor has been built over the Albert hall stalls and arena will not allow much more than 4,000 people to dance in comfort, the number of tickets issued will of necessity have to be limited. Even so, it is likely that the ball will surpass all records in number as well as in beauty.

Already a special Shakespeare ball department has been opened at the offices of the Shakespeare Memorial National theatre, Whitehall House, Charing-Cross, under the management of Mr. G. Sherwood Foster, whose triumphs in connection with the famous Chelsea Arts club balls at Convent garden and at the Albert hall itself testify to a very remarkable gift in artistic generalship. In a talk with a Daily Chronicle representative Mr. Foster gave some idea of the labor entailed and the splendors in store.

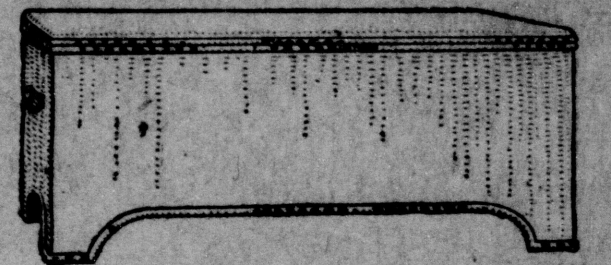

In outlining the plans for the ball Mr. Foster, in a recent interview, said:

"You can have little conception of the genuine work needed for the preparation of a great and memorable ball, such as this is going to be. It is like organizing a pageant, but with the added difficulty that everything has to appear to happen quite naturally, and that the pageanters must be enjoying themselves all the time. I have already been hard at it for a couple of months.

"The opportunity for beauty and variety of costume is almost inexhaustible. Thus we have decided that the dresses shall represent characters either from Shakespeare's plays or belonging to the Elizabethan period. Of the Shakespeare characters alone there are altogether more than 1,000 distinct named personalities of every age, from the fall of Troy, from barbaric Lear and Cymbeline to Shakespeare's own times; of every country, from Egypt and Morocco to Norway and the home of the "Sledded Polack;" of every estate and temperament, mortal and immortal; from kings to clowns, from Hamlet to Christopher Sly, from Audrey to Cleopatra, from Ariel to Caliban, from Titania to Falstaff."

THE BRITISH STAGE

Has Become Infected With What is Known as "Pageantitis."

International News Service.

London, April 7.—"Pageantitis" has now infected the British stage. Louis H. Parker, the inventor of the pageant, who is responsible for the epidemic of "dressing-up," that has raged in this country for the past few years, has written a "pageant play" for Sir Herbert Beerbohm Tree, who will produce it at an early date on the stage of His Majesty's theater with all due sumptuousness of scenery and costume.

The central figure of the play will be Sir Francis Drake, the drama will unfold itself in a series of splendid spectacles of the Elizabethan age, much like the "episodes" of a pageant—only the actors will be professionally of high standing, and not amateurs in home-made costumes.

WILL NOT WED JUNE 20

J. M. Rose the Victim of an Unscrupulous Person.

On Wednesday afternoon, April 27, the Democrat-Sentinel printed the following item, the substance of which was reproduced in the Capital the following morning:

"The Democrat-Sentinel is advised that J. M. Rose, a Sedalia painter, and Miss Sophia Rennison, of 135 Boonville street, will be married at the home of the bride at 8:30 o'clock on Monday, June 20, by the Rev. Frank Y. Campbell, pastor of the First Baptist church. The bridal couple will go to Ottumwa for a visit, then return here for a short sojourn, after which they will go to Denver, Col., with a view of locating."

The information (or misinformation, rather), contained in the paragraph quoted was phoned to this office after 3 o'clock the afternoon of the 27th by a female who gave her name as "Mrs. Yost," and who claimed to reside at "235 East Boonville street."

Mr. Rose informs the Democrat-Sentinel that there never was any foundation for the publication, and a call by him at 235 East Boonville street revealed that the alleged "Mrs. Yost" was not known. That he was made the victim of some unscrupulous person through the columns of this paper is regretted by the management, and a correction is cheerfully made so far as it is possible.

Newbro's Herpicide Saves Worry Saves Money Saves the Hair

If you want to free your head of dandruff and stop falling hair, you must sooner or later resort to Newbro's Herpicide.

By using Herpicide first you save yourself worry, which is desirable, you save money, which is a consideration, and you save your hair, which is the most important of all.

Why not profit by the experience of Mrs. S. A. Lee of 110 South 4th St., Richmond Va., who writes:—

"Four years residence in India ruined my hair until it was but two inches long and very thin. I tried everything in Europe and America without benefit until I was induced to use Herpicide. My hair is now long, soft and silky and natural color, while before it was quite gray. My friends never tire of admiring my hair."

Mrs. Lee's story is a typical story of her troubles. After everything else fails, Newbro's Herpicide brings relief. It would be just as effective if used first.

Newbro's Herpicide kills the dandruff germ and prevents falling hair. It stops itching of the scalp almost instantly. No matter what the claims of others, Herpicide is the only genuine original dandruff germ destroyer.

A BRITISH BLUNDER

ONCE MORE CHARGED THAT THE WAR OFFICE HAS MADE IT SELF UNPOPULAR.

INTERFERED WITH A TOURNAMENT

Special Feature Was a Military Display Entitled "The Millennium," in Which Many Soldiers Appeared.

International News Service.

London, May 7.—The British war office, always a byword for blundering inaptitude, has made itself unpopular by interfering with the management of the Royal Naval and Military tournament. This popular annual event had been arranged to include as its special feature a military display entitled "The Millennium," in which 400 "Tomy Atkinses," dressed as soldiers of all nations, were to appear, perform evolutions and finally sing an "Ode to Peace," accompanied by a guard's band.

This display had been extensively advertised for weeks, and arrangements were practically complete, when the war office came down and forbade the singing of the "Ode to Peace." This action immediately followed the publication in the Times of a letter criticising the proposed performance as incongruous and absurd. Still, the tournament management was put to considerable inconvenience, and the organizing secretary, Colonel Ricardo immediately resigned after working hard in connection with the tournament for many years.

In his statement Colonel Ricardo points out that the war office has never done anything for the tournament, which is held for the benefit of various service charities, beyond giving its sanction to the appearance of troops.

Three years ago the department interfered to stop the performance of the Indian mutiny sham battle, because of the critical state of native unrest in India at the time.

CURES OLD SORES

"I CAN TRUTHFULLY SAY S.S.S. IS A CERTAIN CURE FOR OLD SORES, BECAUSE IT CURED ME OF A BAD ULCER, ON WHICH OTHER TREATMENTS HAD NO EFFECT."

This extract from the testimonial we publish below, will receive the endorsement of thousands of other persons who have used S. S. S. for sores and ulcers.

Every old sore comes from some kind of impurity in the blood. S. S. S. cures on the simple principle of removing the cause of the sore or ulcer and allowing nature to heal the place. When we think for a moment we realize that every portion of the body and system is dependent on the blood; that it is the circulation which nourishes all flesh, tissues, and preserves their natural health. Thus we can readily understand why impurities or poisons in this vital fluid will infect and disease the flesh at some particular spot, and by continually discharging impurities into it, keep the place open, raw or inflamed. It would be against every law of reason to expect the sore to heal while the blood constantly deposits into it the infectious matter with which it is contaminated.

There is a simple way to cure old sores, and it is the only way—remove the cause from the circulation. External applications of liniments, plasters, lotions, salves, etc., can never produce a cure, because such treatment does not reach the blood, where the cause is located.

S. S. S. heals old sores because it is the greatest of all blood purifiers; it goes into the circulation and removes the cause from the blood. When the blood has been purified there is no longer any inflammatory impurity or infectious matter to irritate the place, and nature causes the natural and certain healing of the ulcer. When S.S.S. has cleansed the blood and the place is once more well, it is not a surface cure, every vestige of the old cause has been driven out and the place is solidly and firmly healed from the bottom to the surface. S. S. S. is made entirely of healing cleansing roots, herbs and barks, and contains no trace of mineral. It is a medicine adapted to persons of any age, and is just as effective with the old as with the young or middle aged.

Under the purifying and tonic effects of S. S. S. the system is built up, and those whose health has been weakened by the drain of an old sore will be doubly benefited by its use. If you wish to know anything specially about your case write us. We will answer you fully, and will also send our book on Sores and Ulcers—no charge for either book or advice.

HOME OF FASHION

THIS THE SPOT WHERE EDREYFUS WAS DEGRADED SOME SIXTEEN YEARS AGO.

BRIDE WHO OUGHT TO BE HAPPY

The Father is the Author of "The Girl From Maxim's"—Henri Rochefort Still the Best Art Critic in Paris.

MARQUIS DE CASTELLANE. International News Service.

Paris, May 7.—The Champs de Mars quarter is now pointed out to visitors as the place where Captain Dreyfus was degraded some sixteen years ago. Since then it has become one of the most fashionable residential districts of Paris. This is largely due to the architect Duchesne, the man who built Mr. Clarence Mackay's house and also planned a place for Thomas Fortune Ryan. It was while doing his work for these millionaires that it occurred to him to introduce American comforts in Parisian homes. This was a happy inspiration and has met with great success.

Machinery hall, which once occupied a large part of the Champs de Mars, has been removed, and fashionable houses are taking its place. In this neighborhood the former Duchesse de Valencay, now Mme. Helen Morton, has a place. The Comtesse de Bearn, who recently sold her yacht to the Austrian government for a torpedo destroyer, also lives in this quarter.

Occasionally trades people and celebrated actors break into the charmed circle. For instance, Worth, the dressmaker, has built one of these Franco-American homes in the Champs de Mars. Guitry, the celebrated actor, who created the role of "Chanteclair" in Rostand's new play, also lives here. The neighborhood represents many millions. The Comtesse de Bearn's income is $1,000 a day. The Champs de Mars has now become a favorite horseback promenade for smart officers, so that the Avenue des Amasias in the Bois is deserted for the ever growing popular Champs de Mars.

The approaching marriage of pretty Germaine Faydeau awakens recollections of drama, art, literature and for her father, George Faydeau. He is the author of "The Girl From Maxim's," a play out of which grew many such American plays as "The Girl From Rector's" and the like.

When George Faydeau was writing "The Girl From Maxim's" he used to frequent the celebrated cafe in the Rue Royale. Naturally, he wanted to give his play "local color." His wife, however, objected to this "color," and it took all the finesse of her father, the great painter, Carolus-Duran, to bring about a reconciliation.

If literature and art can make a girl happy, then Mlle. Faydeau should be a very happy bride, indeed. Her fiancé, George Kahn, is a man of letters. Her father, George Faydeau, is one of the best known of modern playwrights. At present he has a popular success running at the Theater des Capucines. Her mother, who was Mlle. Carolus-Duran, is well versed in both literature and art. Her grandmother, Mme. Carolus-Duran, nee Marie Pauline Grollette, was an artist. Her grandfather, Carolus-Duran, is director of the famous art school, the Villa Medici, at Rome. For many years he was president of the National Salon of Fine Arts of Paris. Among his most celebrated works is a painting of St. Francis of Assisi. He has painted many portraits of distinguished people and among his best is that of the Duchess of Marlborough.

Whenever I chance to meet my distinguished friend, Henri Rochefort, the conversation invariably turns on pictures, for Rochefort is still the best art critic in Paris. He says, when buying an "old master," trace the pedigree just as you would a race horse. The English always take great pains to do this before purchasing a picture for the National gallery. M. Rochefort thinks people depend too much upon what is termed expert knowledge. Americans are often deceived and cheated because they depend too much upon their art dealers.

I asked Rochefort what he thought about the authenticity of the much discussed picture of "Venus at the Looking Glass." The old man shook his head. "Its pedigree is doubtful," he said. This is, of course, true.

An English art critic claims that picture was painted by the son-in-law of Valasquez, Baptiste del Mar. He even claims to have discovered the painter's initials on the canvas. When I called this fact to Rochefort's attention he remarked: "Well, his eye-glasses must have powerful lenses."

Mr. Charles Sedelmeyer is the oldest and most experienced art dealer in Paris. He is now 75 years of age and has attended every important art sale for over fifty years.

Speaking of the prices paid at the recent Yerkes sale in New York, he is of the opinion that they were ridiculously high. He says Yerkes purchased his whole collection for about $400,000. He knew the commercial value of pictures and made hard bargains. For instance, Gorot's "Rockets and Blue Lights." This picture was sold in Paris for $12,000, and it brought $80,000 at the Yerkes sale.

Turner's fisherman was offered by Mr. Sedelmeyer to the Louvre in Paris for $25,000. The price was considered too high and the picture refused. This picture was sold at the Yerkes sale for $120,000. Frank Hale's portrait of a woman was sold here for $12,000. Mr. Sedelmeyer declares the Yerkes sale was not based on the value of the paintings, but upon the competition of the millionaires.

Mrs. Moore, who was formerly Kate Robinson, of New York city, received the late King Edward VII at her villa, in Biarritz, just before his departure, and the reception of the kingly visitor was magnificent in the extreme. On his arrival a full orchestra played the English national anthem. After this the king said: "The king is no longer present. There are none here but friends."

This was the signal for all sorts of frolics and amusements. Small animals of India rubber were let loose upon the tables. Real white rabbits emerged from beneath the royal chair and took refuge behind ladies' silken skirts. A battle of pellets, somewhat after the fashion of a battle of flowers, was next. As the pellets were made of the softest dough they were harmless and funny. The king was the greatest fun maker of all. Verily, he became a child again under the influence of Mrs. Moore's hospitality.

Why Not This?

Have you ever been delayed for hours in a railroad station and compelled to remain in the dreary place without a companion, with nothing but old papers and magazines for diversion? Few persons who travel have not encountered this situation. Why can not a bulletin be printed to indicate places of interest in the city or town, with directions as to how to reach those places, and those signs be hung in plain view in the stations? This is work which could be done by the women's clubs in a city. Often one has a long, tedious wait, and it would, indeed, be pleasant to get out into the city and see one, if no more, of the important places, and of printed instructions were right in view the timid would not hesitate to go out. Give us also the names of respectable restaurants. One might get these places to advertise on the bulletin, which would pay for printing it. How many strange women alone or with children know where to go for a luncheon in a strange city? Some go into the nearest place around the depot, not always the most cleanly places, and often in not very respectable districts. A timid traveler will suffer in silence before asking questions, and it seems this bulletin could be made so very useful that it would be a good plan to have such a one printed and placed in every station where waits are possible. One of the dreariest days I ever spent in my life was at a station with nothing to read but a copy of the Johnstown flood, a backless book discovered in the operator's desk. Yet there was a library within ten minutes' car ride, and not an official at the station or any of the loungers knew where it was located. I doubt if some of them knew the city had a library at all.

Orange Layer Cake.

Cream four ounces of butter with four ounces of sugar, then add gradually four well beaten eggs, sift in half a pound of flour and one teaspoonful of baking powder, then add the grated rind of one orange and two tablespoonfuls of milk. Mix well and divide into buttered and floured layer tins, spread evenly and quickly and bake in a hot oven for about fifteen minutes. Turn out to cool.

Now take the strained juice of half an orange and half a lemon, put them into a small saucepan, add a level tablespoonful of cornstarch, moistened with one gill of cold water, add the grated rind of half an orange and four heaping tablespoonfuls of sugar. Stir over the fire till they thicken. When cool spread between the two pieces of cake.

Then ice with orange icing. To make the orange frosting, pare the rind very thinly from one orange and soak it in the juice for one hour and a half. Sift eight ounces of confectioners' sugar into a basin, add the strained juice. Beat for a few minutes and spread on the cake. Cut into neat squares or triangles.

To Clear Vinegar Cruets.

To keep a vinegar cruet shining and clean is not easy, as many a housewife can testify. The neck of the cruet being narrow, usual bottle cleaning methods are futile.

After washing the bottle with hot soap and rinsing thoroughly a few hard beans can be inserted in the bottle, which is then almost filled with water, to which a few drops of ammonia have been added. Shaking the beans around will remove incrustation from the sides.

A long-handled paint brush with a full, thick but not broad brush, is excellent to clean out cruets. It can be dipped in a solution of soda or borax.

Carpet Bugs.

To destroy the buffalo bug which not only ruins carpets, but clothing as well, one should proceed the same way as in killing moths. The buffalo bug is less than a quarter of an inch long, has minute scales and has a marbled appearance. In summer it flies from the house, and the eggs laid during a season will hatch out thousands of these pests, but they are easily destroyed with gasoline, carbolic acid and turpentine. Practically all insect powders will kill them. They dislike sunshine and cleanliness and once at work, they are most destructive. To kill them on a carpet alone, pour gasoline into coarse salt, sprinkle it on the floor and scrub briskly with a broom. Close the room for several hours, sweep and air it. Clean pictures, closets and all upholstered furniture.

The Ignorant Man.

A reporter ventured, on John D. Rockefeller's seventieth birthday, to question him about his very remarkable present, a jar of petroleum butter, the latest by-product of Standard Oil that the remarkable Standard Oil chemists have evolved.

Mr. Rockefeller, however, would not discuss the petroleum butter. He shook his head, laughed and said:

"Young man, I am ignorant about this butter. I am as ignorant as the man in the table."

"There is a table, you know, about a man in an eastern city who followed a lady about the bazaar and shops a long time. Finally she turned to him and said:

"Why do you follow me?" "Because," he answered, "you are very beautiful, and my soul goes out to you in love."

"The lady smiled and said: "But I am not half so beautiful as my sister there." She pointed to the fountain in the square. "Look at her filling her water-jar. She is a vision of loveliness. Go, then, and make love to her."

"The man took the lady at her word. He hastened to the fountain. But the maiden filling her jar there was very, very ugly, and he returned to the lady and said angrily:

"Your sister beautiful! Why did you tell me such a falsehood?" "Ah, but why," said the lady, "did you tell me a falsehood first?"

"But I didn't," said he. "When," he added, "did I?"

"When you told me you loved me," said the lady. "For if it had been true that you loved me you would never have gone off to make love to another woman." —Louisville Times.

WIRELESS 'PHONE

HERE IS SOMETHING THAT IS OF INTEREST TO ALMOST EVERYBODY.

LONG BEEN DREAM OF INVENTORS

Grindell Matthews, a Gloucester Man, Has Perfected an Invention That Will Be Watched With Much Interest.

International News Service.

London, May 7.—The wireless telephone, which has long been the dream of inventors, seems to have been realized, with limitations.

Mr. Grindell Matthews, a Gloucestershire man, who, ever since he was 10 years of age, has been experimenting with electricity, and who, on reaching the years of discretion, became an electrical engineer, claims to have invented a telephone which will work as great a revolution in this method of communication as the Marconi system has accomplished in telegraphy.

When wireless telegraphy was first exploited on a commercial basis Mr. Matthews directed his attention to accomplish the wireless transmission of speech. After experiments which evolved instruments which make this possible.

Up to the present time communication has been established over a distance of half a mile in the busiest have occupied nine years and involved considerable expenditure he has part of London, and yesterday a demonstration was given at a Broad street house which proved at any rate that conversation could be carried on between people in rooms far distant with as much facility as the ordinary telephone.

The importance of telephonic communication, as compared with telegraphic signals requiring expert operators to dispatch and receive them, is obvious. Moreover, it can be used for purposes to which wireless telegraphy can not be applied. Among these may be mentioned communication from land or from a warship with a submarine in action; to establish speech between moving bodies of troops in the field; to speak to ships at sea, or from ship to ship; to communicate with airships or aeroplanes, and to speak from a house to a motor car in motion.

John D. Rockefeller would go broke if he should spend his entire income trying to prepare a better medicine than Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy for diarrhoea, dysentery or bowel complaints. It is simply impossible, and so says every one that has used it. Sold by all dealers.

The Greeting Table.

Those who have experienced it know the delightful sense of welcome that is conveyed by a greeting table in the entrance hall. It may be high or low, of mahogany, mission, rattan or whatever wood best harmonizes with the furniture, but it must always be adorned with flowers. These are usually the favorite blossoms of the hostess; but it is a delicate compliment to an expected guest to use the flowers she most admires. When cut flowers are not procurable, a pot of blossoming plants gives bright greeting to every comer. Foliage bouquets and plants are better than nothing, but the idea is always to have a touch of bright color to greet the eye.

In summer time the greeting table is often placed upon the piazza, where it has kindred spirits in potted plants and vases of flowers arranged upon broad steps or low balustrades. Hostesses who have a special sentiment about their greeting table generally insist on having it just within the entrance door, no matter how many or how bright the flowers may be outside.

Women who occupy rented houses in summer frequently find the greeting table, or a table suitable for such a purpose, missing from the furnishings. When such an article can only be procured by bringing it many miles over mountain roads from a railroad station, the woman who will not forego her floral welcomes manages to construct one to fill the requirements.

One woman in the mountains had three neat birch sticks, with the silver bark upon them, made into a support, such as one sees over campfires, with a barrel head nailed on top. Over this she tacked a circular piece of cloth and draped a small cover upon it. The table was entirely in keeping with the other furnishings, and supported bowls and vases of bright woodland blossoms all the season.

Useful plants for greeting tables in the winter time are oxalis, particularly the radiant pink variety, pink begonias and geraniums. These are hardy, and stand the changes of temperature caused by opening doors.

Catch Basin Opened Up.

S. C. Fuller, the genial street commissioner, Saturday played havoc with the "flood" on Missouri avenue, between Third and Fourth streets, which afforded indescribable trouble to pedestrians and residents of that locality prior to the commissioner's work.

The heavy and continued rain caused the catch basin to be clogged with dirt and rubbish until the sidewalk was flooded, but all is now lovely again.

Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets will clear the sour stomach, sweeten the breath and create a healthy appetite. They promote the flow of gastric juice, thereby inducing good digestion. Sold by all dealers.

"TINY TIM GUILD"

INCURABLE CHILDREN TAKEN THERE AFTER CURE WAS ABANDONED.

TREATMENT HAD DESIRED EFFECT

Wonderful Results Obtained From the Scientific Use of Music and Rhythm—Some of the Cures Effected.

International News Service.

London, May 7.—The wonderful results which can be obtained from the scientific use of music and rhythm have been demonstrated at the Tiny Tim Guild, a charitable institution in City-road, where incurable children are taken after hope has been abandoned at the hospitals.

One remarkable instance was a boy of 6, whose right arm had been totally paralyzed, following an attack of acute infantile paralysis. A drum and his zeal for beating it in time, so as to become a professional drummer when he grows up, have been his salvation. What massage and electrical treatment alone could not do, constant working at his drumming has accomplished, and now the paralyzed arm is almost as useful as the other.

Another case was a child of 3, who six months ago was totally paralyzed in both legs. Her treatment consisted of "marching" to an inspiring tune played on the piano while seated on the edge of a low wooden chair.

"The secret of the treatment," Miss Hawthorne, the founder of the guild, explained, "is to make them build up the strength of the paralyzed muscles and nerves by encouraging them to use their limbs in the way each individual likes best. The music keeps their interest up and prevents their becoming bored and tired."

The most interesting case was a girl of 10, who three years ago was refused admission at one of the great

'Time's Flight Turned Backward' SAGE AND SULPHUR

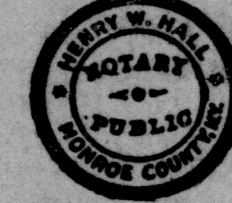

Made Her Look Twenty Years Younger

READ MRS. HERRICK'S SWORN STATEMENT

STATE OF NEW YORK } COUNTY OF MONROE } ss

ROCHESTER, N. Y.

Nancy A. Herrick, being duly sworn, deposes and says: When I was a girl, I had a head of heavy, long, dark brown hair which was the envy of my schoolmates, and which attracted the attention and remarks of strangers. As I grew older, my hair commenced to come out, just a little at first, but gradually more and more, and then began to turn gray. I was induced by the many good reports I had heard of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy to try a bottle. My hair was quite thin and gray when I began using Sage and Sulphur, and you can imagine my satisfaction when I found that it was fast coming back to its natural condition, being thicker, darker and more glossy than it had been for a long time. I continued to use Sage and Sulphur, and my hair is now as heavy, dark and smooth as when I was a girl of sixteen. It is now four years since I commenced using Sage and Sulphur, and my hair is still in splendid condition.

Sworn to before me this 15th day of July, 1902.

London hospitals as being hopelessly incurable. On being brought to the guild, so the mother explained yesterday, the right leg and arm were almost entirely useless, while paralysis of certain of the throat and tongue muscles rendered the child's speech almost incoherent.

Dull and mentally deficient in many ways, her interest in musical sounds gave the clew to the treatment. Singing exercises were devised in which to pronounce the vowels correctly, the semi-paralyzed muscles had to be used, while a wooden clapper and a bell to be sounded by the paralyzed foot and arm, respectively, completed the apparatus. After three years' treatment of this sort the little girl, now a normal child of 10, sings songs, pronouncing the words faultlessly, and skips the rope like any healthy child.

Mary Harriman as a Country Girl.

Mary Harriman has as keen an instinct for guarding the cents as her father demonstrated in his business career. As the manager of the 30,000-acre farm in Arden, N. Y., she works with an eye to profit. The responsibility of the farm is not new to her. For several years she practically held control, her father seldom interfering, and then doing little more than offering a suggestion. Harriman was proud of his daughter's talent for management. They were a familiar sight driving together over the farm, Harriman, as a rule, holding the reins over one of his fast trotters. Miss Harriman cares more for her farm than for society. She is essentially a country girl. Society never has attracted her, and there is little likelihood it will gain her interest now. She is a keen judge of a horse and seldom gets the worst of a trade.—New York Press.

The Soda Bath.

There is a fancy just now for taking soda baths. This is not only good for the skin, making it smooth and fine, but is advised as a cure for rheumatic tendencies.

Such a bath is possible to anyone, as all that is necessary is a box of baking soda and plenty of warm water. The amount of soda used depends upon the sensitiveness of one's skin. Half a teacupful to a bath is a good proportion.

Be careful not to take washing soda instead of bicarbonate of soda or the ordinary baking soda. The above proportions of the former would probably leave you skinless, or at least would make it harsh and dry.

Streng's bread, clean and pure.

To Choose Good Fish.
Stateness in fish is not easily detected when the fish has been kept on ice; but its apparently fresh condition rapidly changes when once removed from the ice.

Mackerel and fresh herring are unfit for use unless quite fresh; the flesh should be plump and firm; the gills red and the eyes bright and prominent. The flesh of flounders and other flat fish should be firm and white.

Fish is best when cheap and plentiful, for when scarce and dear it is usually out of season.

Salmon in prime condition is firm and plump and of a bright reddish pink color. It should be well covered with very bright scales and it should be chosen for its small head and tail and thick shoulders.

Cod when fine has a small head, thick indented shoulders and a small weather, but should be cooked before not sunken and the flesh firm. It may be kept for a day or two in cool weather, but should be cooked before the flesh loses its firmness.

Halibut should be of middling size, thick and of a creamy white color. It is a wholesome fish.

Unwholesome eels may be known by an offensive smell from their mouth.

The heaviest lobsters are the best and crabs are also tested by weight, those of medium size having the finest flavor.

Will Build a Bungalow.

Ira Melton Saturday purchased of Contractor I. D. Turner a lot on East Fifth street, in the 700 block, and will erect thereon a modern, up-to-date bungalow, the contract for which will be let in a couple of weeks. The lot and dwelling will require an expenditure of about $3,000. Mr. Melton will rent his present home on East Broadway.

The splendid work of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets is daily coming to light. No such grand remedy for liver and bowel troubles was ever known before. Thousands bless them for curing constipation, sick headache, biliousness, jaundice and indigestion. Sold by all dealers.

SPIGY SAYINGS

"That Fool of a Giovanni."

Maurice Landi, an Italian, of Mon-essen, Pa., came to the city two days ago to spend a week before he returned to Italy. He had $300 in his pockets. On Friday he came out of a store on Christian street, and a man whom he did not know rushed up to him, and, throwing his arms about his neck, kissed and embraced him. "Don't you know me?" he said.

Landi did not.
"I am that fool of a Giovanni that came over with you on that ship from Italy," the unknown said. "My heart beats with joy to behold you."

Landi was pleased. He visited several saloons with "Giovanni." In one of them "Giovanni" said he, too, was going back to Italy. He had $1,000, he said, and would buy a cassetta and an orchard. A fine little orchard.
Such a one as can be found near Palermo.

He proposed that Landi keep the money for him while he went down
the street to get some clothes. Landi
consented. "Giovanni" took the $300 of Landi and with his own $1,000, and before the very eyes of Landi wrapped them carefully in one large envelope and handed it to Landi. Landi placed it reverently inside his shirt.

"Giovanni" departed. He did not return in an hour, as he said he would.
He did not return in two, three, or four hours. Landi opened the package and found it to contain old paper. He tore his hair; he cursed; he ran to the police station, and sobbed out his story.

The police are now looking for "that fool of a Giovanni."—Philadelphia Times.

A Blotchy Face.

Many women are mortified by a red blotchy skin that refuses to yield to copious grease and powder.
Sometimes this condition is due to bad blood, but more often to poor circulation and improper diet.

Try a cooling diet for a time and take something to cool the blood.
Your doctor will advise the best way
this can be done. If you do not wish to consult him take a half teaspoonful of Sprudel salts in a glass of hot water to draw the blood from the head.

The Shells You Save.

Some of the shells you gathered at the seashore can be made into pin-trays, ash trays and numerous small articles if one knows exactly how to polish them. Put on a pair of heavy kid gloves and dip them into a common hydrochloric acid and rub this over the shells until that dark substance disappears. Wash them in hot water and place in warm sawdust, then polish with a cloth. Shells not naturally glossy will appear so if polished with olive oil and turpentine.

HAS MADE COMPLETE CONFESSION

Played for High Stakes at the Chief

Without Arousing Least

International News Service.

Moscow, May 7.—The remarkable trick of a Moscow card sharper, who for thirty years past has played for high stakes in the chief clubs here, has been revealed. He made a full confession.

Explaining that his eyes were weak,
he invariably wore dark spectacles in the evening. He generally took part in a game called "bank," in which the eights and nines of each suit are the chief cards.

In his waistcoat pocket he kept a preparation of phosphorus, and by touching the backs of the cards that he wished to mark he rendered them slightly luminous. By means of his dark spectacles he recognized them, whereas nothing was apparent to the other players.

After a few deals he would play with absolute certainty, and, of course, won large sums.

ARMY FLYING MEN

AVIATION HAS MADE REMARKABLE PROGRESS IN GERMAN EMPIRE.

MYSTERY FINALLY CLEARED UP

A Couple Killed in May, 1904, Whose Bodies Were Burned By Murderers—How the Crime Was Discovered

BY STEVEN BURNETT. International News Service.

Berlin, May 7.—Nothing could more strikingly indicate the enormous progress of aviation in Germany than the fact that no fewer than seven separate flying weeks have already been organized for the spring and summer of 1910. The program is as follows:

Berlin, May 10 to 16 (international).
Munich, June 4 to 12 (national).
Danzig, June 18 to 26 (national).
Leipzig, July 10 to 17 (national).
Berlin, August 7 to 13 (national).
Munich, September 8 to 13 (national).

Berlin, October 7 to 13 (national). The predominance of "weeks" in which competition is limited to German aeroplanists is significant of the rapidity with which the Teutons have taken up flying as a science and a pastime. The flying-grounds at Johannisthal, near Berlin, are the scenes of almost daily flights, and a regular programme is offered on Sunday afternoons. The Kaiser's hint, that he wants more flying men in the army, is being enthusiastically taken by young military men.

Excepting their passion for Drednaughts, modern Germans have no predilection more strongly developed than their insatiable love of titles. The very latest phenomenon in this line is the proposal that male patients in the Berlin municipal hospitals shall hereafter be addressed with the prefix "Herr" (Mr.). Attending physicians and nurses are no longer to address their male charges by their surnames or merely as "patients," but are to go through the form of saying "Mr. Patient" in all cases. The momentous question of making the new title compulsory is down as a special order of business at early meeting of the town council.

Those who believe in the esoteric powers of numbers, and especially of "3" and its multiples, will find confirmation for their theories in the clearing up after exactly six years ago today of a mystery which first preoccupied the little Brandenburg township of Zielenzig, in May, 1904.

On the outskirts of this place, which lies somewhat to the east of Frankfurt-on-the-Oder, a married couple named Kramm farmed a small holding, which they had inherited on the condition that they afforded a home to the wife's uncle, Ferdinand Fabian, a veteran of 72 years. A friend of the old man's, named Hermann, also boarded with the family.

On the date mentioned Fabian vanished, and he was never seen again. The neighbors naturally sought for circumstances which would account for his disappearance, and a certain amount of suspicion fell upon the Kramms. It was recalled that latterly differences had sprung up between them and Fabian, and that the latter had given notice of foreclosure of a small mortgage which he had on the farm. The inference that the old man had been made away with by his nephew and niece was generally drawn in the immediate vicinity, but the authorities found no reason to interfere, and gradually the mystery lost its interest and was almost forgotten.

This year the interval would have elapsed after which the law would have admitted presumption of Fabian's death, and last January the Kramms' house was burned to the ground. The circumstances of the fire were such that Hermann was with difficulty rescued from the flames, and actually sustained burns of so serious nature that weeks elapsed before he could leave his bed.

Whispers of incendiarism were now rife, and a gendarme was sent to investigate the matter. He had a long talk with Hermann, who appears to be a person of restricted intelligence and at last dragged from him the theory that the Kramms had set fire to the house in order to get rid of him as a possible witness against them in connection with the disappearance of Fabian.

Asked why he had never mentioned his doubts on this matter before, he replied that he had no definite proofs; but under cross examination he revealed several important bits of evidence, and he finally led the gendarme to a point in a field a hundred yards from the house, where, he said, he had noticed the day after

Sure enough, when the ground was dug up a sack was found containing the skeleton of the missing man. The Kramms, who are momentarily expecting the birth of their eighth child, have been arrested.

RUSE OF A GERMAN

AN EXTRAORDINARY STORY OF HOW HE DID DUTY IN THE FRENCH ARMY.

HAD THE PAPERS OF ANOTHER MAN

Latter Had Promised to Relieve Him In Time, But Did Not Keep His Word, So the German Made Public the Story.

International News Service.

Paris, May 7.—An extraordinary story is related of a German, who is alleged to have been actually serving for some time in a French infantry regiment quartered in a provincial town.

A few months ago he appeared at the barracks, saying he was living with his parents in Saxony, and had come for the usual term of service with the colors.

The papers which he produced were quite correct, and he did his work so well that he was proposed for promotion to the rank of corporal.

When he heard of this idea the man sought an interview with the captain, and stated that he was a native of Posen and had arrived with the papers to replace their real owner, who had promised to relieve him within a few weeks.

As, however, his friend had not kept his word, in spite of the repeated remonstrances which he had sent him by post, he decided on making a clean breast of it, the more so as he had enough of service in the French army. What the captain or the colonel had to say of this queer trick, however, is not added.

Value of Old Sheets.

Few housekeepers know the value of old sheets. First, there are very few housekeepers ignorant of the fact that if the sides are sewed together and the sheets cut through the center it will be given a new lease of life. Twilled sheets, by reason of their softness, combined with their substantial weave, make excellent polishing cloths and good undercovers for ironing boards.

Old cotton sheets make good bags for inclosing gloves and coats in the wardrobe, one large sheet being sufficient for two wardrobe bags. An old sheet will cut up into several slips for use on the pillows over the ticking. Another plan is to take the best parts for making sheets for coats and cribs, where there are children, reserving the very thin portions for use as dusters.

A large apron for covering the skirt to be used for bedmaking can be made from half a discarded sheet. Very soft old sheets may be cut in pieces 40 by 20 and devoted to baby's wear.

In the sickroom there is no end to the possibilities of an old sheet. One-half laid across the bed under the patient will serve as a draw sheet. Small pieces may be substituted for a handkerchief and then burned. In infectious cases an old sheet may be dipped in a disinfectant and hung outside the door of a sickroom.

On sweeping days there is a need for old sheets for covering the furniture. As linen wears well and keeps its color to the last thread, many very pretty pieces of decorative work may be evolved from it. An oblong piece, hemstitched all the way around, then embroidered will make a cover for baby's carriage. Small squares set together with insertion and lace will make a dressing table cover.

Stencill Work.

A charming little idea for the decoration of the dinner table can be worked out by the artist of the family. It is the duplication of the design on the china in that of the lamp shades.

For the Dutch luncheon, when the delectable is used, the shades should carry out the pattern in color and design. It is very easy to copy the figures from the china, and from one stencil board as many copies as are necessary for artistic lighting can be made. These transparent pieces can be slipped into the frames and removed for a future time.

For the rose luncheon, when the soft pink roses are the main china decoration, the candle shades add to the beauty of the table if they accurately carry out the design which occurs on the dishes.

When the children are reigning at their little afternoon party and Mother Goose is once more seen on the cups and saucers, there will be added delight to the little folks if Little Boy Blue and Doctor Foster appear with a candle behind them.

No attempt at realism should be made in these decorations. The tones should be put off in flat wash and the figures should be drawn in simple, conventional lines.

Try this. You will find that the little time which it will take to make a set of shades will be more than repaid in the pleasing idea that even the lights are linked to the table by an appropriate decoration.
